OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

1st Quarter Highlights

Eighteen rural communities have been selected to share $170,000 in Local Economic Assistance & Development Support (LEADS) grants funding. LEADS recipients are chosen through a competitive application process. The Economic Development Commission made the final selection of successful applicants.

St. Claire's Organics, a Colorado manufacturer of candy and cough drops, is relocating its facility to Santa Clara, in Grant County, creating ten new jobs. St. Claire's products are sold in natural foods and mass market segments both domestically and abroad.

On August 11th New Mexico MainStreet announced that two organizations were selected to receive $2,500 place-making grants to help revitalize gathering places in historic commercial districts. The recipients are Embudo Valley Library & Community Center in Dixon, and Manzano Mountains Arts Council in Mountainair.

Unity BPO, a homegrown New Mexico business, will create 300 new healthcare industry jobs in Albuquerque with the ongoing assistance of JTIP. The company will hire skilled chemical analysts with salaries ranging from $38,000 to $90,000.

On August 23rd Secretary Barela attended the grand opening of the New Mexico Highlands University Business Hub and announced that Medicus Billing & Consulting is expanding to Las Vegas creating ten new jobs.

The biggest news of the quarter was undoubtedly Facebook's announcement that it has chosen Los Lunas (competing with Park City, Utah) for the location of its newest green data center. The $250 million facility will receive $10 million in LEDA funding and will create 50 new jobs.

Two tech companies, Star Cryoelectronics expanding in Santa Fe, and X2nSAT relocating to Las Cruces, were announced in October but reported by LEDA and counted in the first quarter.
NEW MEXICO PARTNERSHIP

The Partnership recruited a new company to the state:

- Facebook selected Los Lunas for a large scale data center representing one of the largest investments in New Mexico in years. Facebook will employ 50.

- Master Immediate Supply is a Mexican company that has leased 2,000 SF in Santa Teresa and will be supplying parts and components regionally creating 5 jobs.

- Gamesa is a Spanish wind turbine that will stage its turbines for shipment in Santa Teresa, creating 25 jobs.

The first quarter was eventful with continued project management work to develop existing projects including five site visits, and outbound marketing and sales activities. A new project was opened in conjunction with an attendee at the Fam Tour event held in June. New Mexico has made the first cut for a 600-employee industrial facility. We are a finalist on two other projects that are considering our state, one a relocation from California, and the other an expanding technology-related opportunity.

Marketing Activities:

- E-mail outreach to executives representing potential expanding/relocating companies in California and Chicago

- Sales Mission to Phoenix with MVEDA and Roswell-Chaves County Economic Development Corporation

- Breakbulk Americas trade show with Gallup EDC (Michael Sage)

- Governor’s Boston Sales Mission

New Mexico Film Office (NMFO)

FY17 1st Quarter Performance Report

The New Mexico State Film Office is a division of the New Mexico Economic Development Department that serves the film and television industry locally, nationally and internationally. The office’s purpose is to market the state to this industry, service the productions and promote jobs for New Mexico residents. The division offers resources to producers, film crew, and local filmmakers and works diligently to assist with the scouting of potential filming locations. The division consults with productions regarding the financial aspects of their projects, guiding them through the incentives such as the 25% to 30% Refundable Film Production Tax Credit and the Job Training Incentive Program for Film & Multimedia. The division also connects productions with the crew, vendor services and film liaisons throughout the state.

The division continues to focus on three (3) main initiatives: (1) Recruitment: Television, Feature Productions and Digital Emerging Media Projects/Companies; (2) Workforce Development; and (3) Statewide Industry Outreach.

Recruitment

The division’s primary purpose is to market the state to the film & television and emerging media industries, service the recruited productions and companies, and promote job and business opportunities for New Mexico residents. This includes consulting with production and emerging media companies regarding the financial aspects of their projects, and guiding them through the incentives such as the Refundable Film Production Tax Credit. The division also provides direction to companies regarding potential locations on which to film, as well as connecting the productions with the crew, vendor services and film liaisons throughout the state. The division also continues to work towards taking the lead in Emerging Media entrepreneurial opportunities in-state.

Highlights:

- In the first quarter: It is banner year so far for NM film and TV! Our highest Q1 EVER. We have almost doubled our worker days from last year. Another first, all of the productions studios are booked throughout the fall and winter months which has never happened before in NM. Currently we have major features wrapping up Hostiles, Granite Mountain, Villa Capri and Woman Walks Ahead. Ongoing TV series: Godless (Netflix), Better Call Saul Season 3 (AMC), t@gged Season 2 (AwesomenessTV), plus many student shorts, indie features such as Galileo (filmed exclusively in Taos), Furthest Witness, Making a Killing, locally produced TV series When Angels Guard Your Every Step for cable international distribution and BioPark for National Geographic Channel as well as local indie shorts like Leslie, Mrs. Murphy’s Confession, Lyra, Scaredy Cat, Why I Run, Diva’s Perfect Posse, Cuts, and Broken Sidewalk.

- The Director attended the 40th annual Association of Film Commissioners International Cineposium in Atlanta, Georgia. Conference attendees were from 22 countries and 25 US states were represented during the three-day Building Your Business focused conference. This year’s event gave attention to Production Infrastructure - how to build it, maintain it and manage crew development to meet its needs. Senator Christopher J. Dodd, Chairman and CEO of the Motion Picture Association of America provided the keynote address where he discussed how film commissions have enabled the flourishing of a truly global film and TV business. Industry professionals and government leaders learned about BUILDING the business of TV and film production infrastructure in their respective markets.

- For the second quarter: We are excited to begin principal photography on several major TV series Midnight, Texas (NBC), a TNT TV pilot, a 10 episode Epix/MGM TV series as well as the continuation of Godless (Netflix), Better Call Saul Season 3 and major features: a feature sequel to Sicario (Black Label Media), Cliffs of Freedom (Freedom Films, LLC), and another large budget feature about the Middle East. The student filmmakers are also on fire with all of their fall projects as well as local indie darlings with many short films on the horizon.
Workforce Development

The Job Training Incentive Program for Film & Multimedia (JTIP) provides multiple ways for residents to advance in this industry and to keep talent in-state. The program continues to evolve and expand to meet industry needs. The Film Crew Advancement Program (FCAP) is the division’s priority program in training as it provides high-wage job opportunities with production companies where crew can diversify and advance their skill sets increasing retention and continual employment in the industry. As an additional incentive to the film tax credit, productions that hire qualifying, local crew are reimbursed fifty percent (50%) of a qualifying resident’s wages for up to 1040 hours. In addition, the program encourages veterans and reserve member components to apply transitional skill sets to this industry in an initiative entitled “Operation Soundstage.”

Highlights:

• In the first quarter: due to a cut of funds in FY17, the FCAP number of participating production companies and number of participating New Mexico residents has significantly decreased. The division made administrative adjustments to review FCAP applications from production companies with budgets ranging from $200K to $3M. The division also limited one (1) FCAP position per department. Three (3) Q1 productions had to decrease the number of trainees by 40 and the division had to decline participation of eight (8) major productions with budgets over $2M, resulting in an average estimate of eighty (80) potential trainees who were not able to participate in FCAP. Funds may not be available for Q2, Q3 or Q4. Five (5) companies qualified for FCAP with forty-seven (47) resident participants.

• For the second quarter: the division will attend the Santa Fe Community College veteran career fair to educate and recruit veterans and reserved component members to Operation Soundstage; the division will coordinate training classes in December.

Statewide Outreach

There are a variety of ways to work with local communities, schools, filmmakers and chambers in order to assist and promote the industry and the jobs it creates. The five (5) that have been identified by the division to increase the effectiveness of local outreach are (1) expanding upon the Statewide Film Liaison Network that trains designated community members in the production process and encourages filmmaking in rural areas; (2) collaborating Film Tourism efforts to give communities an additional way to market to visitors, to increase economic impact and to benefit from the success of the industry; (3) holding regional meetings and utilizing social media to assist in educating the public on the industry and the division’s resources; (4) developing educational networking initiatives to provide opportunities to learn about film and media programs available throughout New Mexico; and (5) expanding on two primary outreach events: the annual NM filmmakers Showcase and the annual Film & Media Industry Conference.

Highlights:

• In the first quarter: the division co-hosted with SONY a crew screening of “The Magnificent Seven,” with approximately 180 attendees in Albuquerque; created a new podcast for the division, “NMFO Filmcast” and conducted the inaugural podcast with actor Robert Taylor; assisted the 2016 Balloon Fiesta Student Filmmaker Challenge which provides student filmmakers the opportunity to develop short films / digital videos presented by Canon; continuing to coordinate efforts toward the annual Film and Media Conference in November which will provide a wealth of information for filmmakers, crew and emerging media innovators throughout New Mexico.

• For second quarter: the division will host the annual film and media conference in Albuquerque, NM and host the annual film liaison summit. Two (2) NM Filmmakers Showcase winner screenings will take place in Gallup and in Guadalupe County.
